About Golden Pearls

The design of Golden Pearls represents a combination of the classical 2nd century remedy Guizhi Jia Gegen Tang (Cinnamon Twig Decoction plus Kudzu), from Zhang Zhongjing's herbal primer Shanghan lun (Treatise on Disorders Caused by Cold), and the effective anti-abscess formula Weijing Tang (Reed Decoction) from Sun Simiao's 7th century encyclopedia, Qianjin yaofang. It is designed to treat acute situations of puss development in confined spaces (sinuses, teeth, etc.) in constitutionally yang deficient individuals. This kind of person tends to be yang deficient and suffer from frequent infections, yet does not respond well to "antibiotic" cooling treatments. Guizhi Jia Gegen Tang can address the underlying microcirculation issues in yang deficient constitutions, while Weijing Tang and other added herbs gently address the acute heat phlegm situation.

Therapeutic Principles

- Release taiyang/yangming and gently clear heat phlegm.
- For weak and generally allergic constitutional types with respiratory infections involving colored phlegm.

Indications

- Floating or tight pulse (weak volume)
- Frontal (sinus) headache, sore/sensitive neck
- Aversion to wind, tendency to feel cold
- Occluded phlegm in sinuses; yellow/green phlegm draining from nose and/or lungs
- Preventing worsening of infection (i.e., phlegm turning colored, cold going into chest) when suffering from cold with symptoms of runny nose/sneezing
- Any situation involving chronic puss in deficient individuals (teeth, skin)
- Fertility issues in women in their thirties and forties
